MO SW-PBS TEACHER TOOL
MULTIPLE OPPORTUNITIES TO RESPOND

PRACTICE: Multiple Opportunities to Respond (OTR)

RESEARCH STATES:
The research supports the use of providing multiple opportunities to respond to:

- Decrease in disruptive behavior
- Increase in on-task behavior
- Increase in academic engagement with instruction
- Increase in rates of positive, specific feedback (Carnine, 1976; Heward, 1994; Sutherland, Alder, & Gunter, 2003; Sutherland & Wehby, 2001; West & Sloane, 1986)
- Improved Reading Performance:
  - Increased percentage of reading responses,
  - Mastery of reading words,
  - Rates of words read correctly and decreased rates of words read incorrectly (Skinner, Belfior, Mace, Williams-Wilson, & Johns, 1997).
- Increase in number of correct responses
- Limit student time for engaging in inappropriate behavior
- Increase efficiency in use of instructional time
- Improved Math Performance:
  - Percentage of problems calculated correctly per minutes,
  - Number of problems completed and correct responses.
  (Carnine, 1976; Skinner, Smith & McLean, 1994)

What is it?

- An instructional question, statement or gesture made by the teacher seeking an academic response from students (Sprick, Knight, Reinke, & McKale 2006)

What are the guidelines?

- Teacher talk should be no more than 40-50% of instructional time.
- New material–minimum of 4-6 responses per minute with 80% accuracy.
- Review of learned material–8-12 responses per minute with 90% accuracy.
- Wait time equals 5 seconds.

Practice

- Identify opportunities within your lesson plans to increase opportunities for students to respond. Identify opportunities to replace single student responding through hand-raising with multiple student responding through strategies such as: use of response cards, dry erase boards, Smart Boards, white boards, response clickers, choral response, guided notes, computer assisted instruction, classwide peer tutoring and direct instruction

<td>Teacher says, &quot;Yes! The correct answer is 30.&quot; Teacher ignores error responses, gives correct response. Asks same question again.</td>
