

FOURTH ANNUAL FILM FEST

MO SW-PBS SUMMER INSTITUTE 2019

Successful Films...

- Capture the school expectations within context to specific locations.
- Have positive language throughout.
- Appeal to students and adults!
- Good films often use humor to convey the message.
- Parody films are good, but strongly suggest using adults to model non-examples of expected behaviors while using students to model examples of expected behaviors.
- Effective films capture the “fun” successful SW-PBS teams have explicitly teaching adult and student expectations.
- Can be used for initial teaching and then addressing specific problems identified through data.
- It is the process, not the product

Positive Behavior Interventions and Supports (PBIS) Film Repository

Thank you for contributing to our efforts to create a PBIS Film Repository. Please fill out the following form with information regarding your film and provide us with a link to your film. Please note that submitting your film to the PBIS Film Repository does not submit your film to the Film Festival. Upon submission, all films will be reviewed. With that, submitting a film does not mean it will automatically be included in the repository.

We appreciate your efforts to help disseminate the PBIS Films. If you have questions, please contact Shanna Hirsch (shannah@g.clemson.edu).

Homegrown SW-PBIS Videos

Created by Michael Kennedy PRO
9 years ago

Schools across the country have been using homegrown videos to support school-wide PBIS (SW-PBIS) initiatives in elementary, middle and high schools for a number of years. This site was established in an attempt to gather examples of these videos into one convenient location so PBIS teams, trainers, and researchers can access them for educational purposes.

Here are links to excellent PBIS Videos that are online, but not on this site:
