This report shows the proportion of referrals within the green, yellow, and red zones as based upon the following data decision rules:

- Green zone = 0-1 Referrals
- Yellow zone = 2-5 Referrals
- Red zone = 6+ Referrals

The report table provides the total number of students within a specific zone as well as the proportion of the school's total population within a specific zone. The table is divided by All Referrals, Major referrals only, and Minor referrals only.

Use this report to look at the distribution of students (by percentage) into each of the triangle's three zones.

Selecting

One of most significant federal engagement with public education was this Title I act. The act required all school districts receiving Title I funds to disaggregate achievement data according to race with evidence of all students making adequate yearly progress.

We believed that the focus upon achievement gap, though a righteous endeavor, must be strengthen with a more diligent focus upon the engagement gap.

Thus, our efforts to understand oppressions begins to help address the manner in which students are marginalized and their engagement in learning is minimized.

JULIAN WEISSGLASS ED WEEK - AUGUST 3, 2001

Any reform effort designed to reduce the achievement gap that does not help whites and people of color heal from the hurts of racism will not likely succeed over time

Although educators cannot, by themselves, solve all the problems caused by racism in society, it is possible for us to construct healing communities in which people can learn how to listen and give attention while others heal.

Where Change Starts With One And Ends With All

"Guilt is not a response to anger; it is a response to one's own actions or lack of action. If it leads to change then it can be useful, since it is then no longer guilt but the beginning of knowledge.

Yet all too often, guilt is just another name for impotence, for defensiveness destructive of communication; it becomes a device to protect ignorance and the continuation of things the way they are, the ultimate protection for changelessness."
